

Changing Icons On Your PC

Select the icon(s) you would like, one or all of them. Click on the link and you will see a small image in the upper left hand corner of the page. Right click and select “save image as.” Name it whatever you want just make sure you put the extension .ico at the end of the name. For example if you selected the transparent background icon you can save it as myicon.ico Just remember to type .ico after whatever you name it.

After you save the icon to a place on your computer you will easily find you can then substitute a typical “short cut” explorer icon or a fire fox icon with one of these. To do that, go to the properties area of the current short cut icons and by “right clicking” on the icon and select “change icon.” Then select browse and locate and upload your icon. Or for more permanency since most of those files are located in system 32 you can drag and drop the icon there and then locate it in the “browse function”, “select”, then click “apply” and “OK”. You now have Chimera African violet icons on your PC.
